[1889]

Rossin House

A. NELSON,
Proprietor.

Toronto, CANADA. Sept 11. 1889

My dear. In prospect of the case coming on tomorrow. There is a whole case & there is a part of another between us & ours. The horniness of it! & the Jolly Mr. James arrived this A. M. a general merry man. We passed yesterday at the fair ground. Saw Sir John Mac would a wife "open the fair". It is the annual agricultural fair - & of great moment to the people of Canada. The Boston Post of Monday came this eve. In it you saw the advertisement of the Symphony Concerts. whatever you choose to do about it I decide to. If you wish to reserve tickets for the same places. Garibaldi should be notified by Sat. eve. or Monday A. M. when the sale begins. Unfortunately this cannot reach you before Friday eve. if then - for even the mails run to go here with English heaviness.

We are well - & patience does at last get to be the badge of all our tribe. The waiters on the Law. The weather is very warm today. How I wish I were where you are, I hope all yours will then. Tell the girls I am obliged to stay here thought when I left - but that I hope to see them soon. There is that nice to the Glen which we promised them - & which they must have sooner or later. Please see that the horses are reviewed if they do not have legitimate use. Wilson can hide them. My best thoughts to you! I cannot wait - I want to go home. If the case comes for we hope - we shall leave Sat.

Love & Carry & tell her forever in the impersonal weather she is having - Blessings on your heads!
